PLANTS FOR DRY CLIMATES

If you buy only one book to personalize your garden or landscape design, this is the complete, basic book you will need. Totally revised and updated, it includes descriptions of hundreds of moderate to low-water garden plants that do well in arid climates, as well as plants for the dryer, self-maintaining landscape. The color photographs and useful plant charts help you choose annuals, perennial color, ground cover, and trees. Combined with the detailed information on growth characteristics, uses and specific soil, sun, water, temperature, and maintenance needs, you'll have all you need at your fingertips.

- Plan and plant easy-care landscapes
- Use plants to modify your climate and save energy
- Grow lawns, vegetables, and flowers
- Identify and treat common plant problems
- Use landscape themes
- Utilize the mini-oasis concept
- Deal effectively with plant pests and diseases
- Learn to modify the microclimate in your garden or landscape
- Reduce glare and control wind and air flow to create the perfect atmosphere for your landscape plants

Mary Rose Duffield, a licensed landscape architect, is a fourth generation Arizonian living in Tucson. She has an active practice designing landscapes throughout the Southwest. A member of the American Society of Landscape Architects, her work has won many awards and has appeared in books, magazines, and other publications.

Warren D. Jones is a native Californian. For many years he had an active practice based in La Habra Heights, designing landscapes throughout California, especially in the desert, and in Southern Arizona. After moving to Arizona, he educated two generations of landscape architects at the University of Arizona, before his promotion to professor emeritus. Jones is the co-author of Landscape Plants for Dry Regions. He lives in Tucson.

PLANTS FOR DRY CLIMATES...

How to select, grow and enjoy by

Mary Rose Duffield and Warren Jones

Can be borrowed from the Architectural Committee, and is part of the Plant Guidelines for San Ignacio Vistas.

This book would be a good addition to your library if you like to garden.

Although the retail price is somewhere around $29.95 I got two used copies thru Amazon.com that were in mint condition at a very modest price. (Under $15 each with shipping)
